

GanoderMax

Ganoderma wall-broken spores and polysaccharides

GanoderMax is scientifically formulated to maximize immunomodulating functions. It is used to strengthen immune system, delay aging, increase blood circulation, combat allergy, and improve well-being.

OVERVIEW

Ganoderma lucidum (Lingzhi, Reishi) has been used for 4,000 years in China as a miraculous herb for promoting health and longevity. It contains three stages of life including mycelium, fruit body and spore. Spores are seeds and of greatest health benefits. However, the walls of spores need to be broken to facilitate effective absorption of bioactive ingredients by human body.

The Ganoderma lucidum used was cultivated in natural conditions in the mountain areas, free of pollutions. Strict guidelines were implemented during cultivation. A patented enzymatic technology was used to break the walls of spores, resulting in high rates of broken walls (> 95%) without damaging active ingredients. The wall-broken spores were then formulated with polysaccharides to maximize efficacy.
